This thriving Psychology Practice was founded to provide psychological support to patients experiencing developmental challenges across their lifespan. The practice treats a variety of mental health issues, including anxiety, depression, and OCD. The practice offers a number of therapies for the treatment of individuals, couples, and families.

The seller owns 100% of the practice. They seek to retire and will work with the buyer to ensure a smooth transition.

All potential buyers are required to sign a nondisclosure agreement and must provide proof of financial viability. This practice must be operated by a New York State licensed Psychologist.
